

The goal for summer reading this year is to notice how much reading you actually do and understand the different types of reading, especially the difference between fiction and nonfiction reading. Your job this summer is to pay attention to the different types of reading you do and be prepared to discuss it at the beginning of next school year. Here's a list to get you started:

Novels (you should read at least a couple this summer)

Short Stories

Poetry

Guidebooks

Magazines - online or paper

Websites

News Sites

Signs/Billboards

Instruction Manuals

Recipes

Cereal / Food Boxes

Newspapers - online or paper

Articles

Reference Materials - dictionaries, encyclopedias

History Books

Museum Signage

Pamphlets

Posters
